

SON OF REV. BOGGS DROWNS IN A POND NEAR LEXINGTON

Twelve-Year-Old Son of Blind Preacher, Former Resident of Aberdeen, Was Drowned Near Lexington Sunday.

Monday's Lexington Herald says: When a raft on which he and several companions were riding came apart, Robert Boggs, 12 years old, was drowned Sunday afternoon about 4 o'clock in a pond at the S. S. Price packing plant on the Leestown pike. He could not swim.

Harley Cook, a farmer, who lives on the Leestown pike, was on the raft with the boys, and attempted to save Boggs, and was nearly drowned, being forced under the water twice by the struggles of the boy.

Young Boggs was the son of the Rev. R. A. Boggs, preacher, blind since birth, who is now in Ohio. A mother and four sisters also survive him: Mrs. James Fraley and Misses Verna, Minnie and Jessie Boggs. The family make their home in the old Price home on the Leestown pike.

The body was recovered an hour after the boy went down. It was recovered by a swimmer, neighbors aiding, among them L. L. Bruner, who lives on the Leestown pike an eighth of a mile from the pond, and who was attracted by shouts.

A number of swimmers were in the pond at the time of the accident, and on the raft, besides Mr. Cook, were John and Thomas Fitzgerald, son of J. J. Fitzgerald, whose home is nearby. The pond is 12 feet deep in places, according to neighbors.

In an effort to save the boy's life the fire department was called and Chief W. A. Jesse sent out two of his men in his car to the scene with a pump. The boy, however, had been under the water too long and was dead when the body was recovered.

ROBERTS-HORNBACK

Mayville Girl Becomes Bride of Louisville Wholesaler—Met here During Knights Templar Conclave

Relatives and friends were advised by telegram Sunday of the quiet marriage on Saturday at West Baden, Ind., where the bride had been spending her vacation, of Miss Georgia Hornback, of this city, and Mr. Clark Roberts, of Louisville.

The bride is one of Mayville's most attractive young ladies. For a number of years she has been the bookkeeper at the Keith & Keith garage. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hornback, of Forest avenue, and one of the most popular girls in the city.

The groom is one of the proprietors of a large wholesale hardware concern in the city of Louisville. He is Captain General of DeMolay Commandery Knights Templar and he met his bride in this city in May during the state convocation of Knights Templar.

Following a wedding trip to Chicago and other points of interest, the happy couple will be at home in a newly built bungalow in Louisville. Their local friends extend heartiest of congratulations and best wishes.

I will call at the home and shampoo your hair for 50 cents. Satisfaction guaranteed. Rose Anderson, 215 Beech street. Phone 780. 26 July 22

The local church will probably invite the association to meet in this city next year.

CARDS BREAK EVEN IN WEEK-END SERIES WITH LEXINGTON

Locals Win Saturday's Game by Big Odds and Lose Sunday's Contest When Wright Makes His Debut With Studebakers.

The Cardinals and Studebakers in their two game series at Lexington Saturday and Sunday broke even with Sunday's game almost as disastrous for the Cards as Saturday's was for the Studebakers, 19 to 5, and 10 to 5 being the respective scores. Lexington called on three pitchers to save off the Cards attack Saturday, Park, Monhollen and Morton, while Shaw relieved Bosken in the seventh when Devereaux spiked him at the plate attempting to score on a short passed ball. The Manager is reported to be suffering from a serious knee cap injury and will probably be out the balance of the season.

Sunday's game was a case of too much "Rasty" Wright, the Irvine hurler showing what might have been the result in his former games with a good team behind him. Einemann was not much of a puzzle to the Studebakers and Shaw again was called upon to finish the fracas.

EDWARDS ADVISES AGAINST BOND ISSUE FOR MASON

Expert Road Engineer, After Looking Into Situation Here, Advises Against Bonds, Favors Higher Taxation.

Sunday's Lexington Herald said: County Road Engineer W. H. Edwards returned Saturday from Mayville where he went at the request of the Mason county officials to inspect the roads and confer with them in regard to a proposed $1,000,000 bond issue for roads.

Mr. Edwards said he advised against the floating of the bond issue, saying that the road fund was not great enough to pay the interest on the money, but suggested an increase in taxes for that purpose. It had not been definitely decided what should be done before he left, but the county will probably do one or the other, Mr. Edwards said, as the officials and taxpayers are very anxious to improve their roads.

Mason county has 43 miles of roads in the state primary highway system and none of this has been accepted by the state highway commission for upkeep, due to poor condition.

He then provided that the residue of the estate shall be invested in government bonds and the interest and as much of the principal as necessary, be used to educate his little grand-niece, Jennie Lindsay King, after she has completed Common school.

EVERY ONE SHOULD WEAR A POPPY ON "POPPY DAY"

Cost Will Be Small But Memorial Proposed to America's Heroic Dead Will Be Great. Mrs. Wood's Appeal.

(By ELEANOR DUNCAN WOOD.)

It was a peculiarly happy inspiration with those who conceived the idea of a great National University as a memorial to the boys who fell in "Flanders Fields," that they should have chosen "Poppy Day" as a means to that end. We have had drives innumerable. Many of us whose "spirits" are willing, are financially unable to contribute as we would like, and as the causes deserve. But a poppy that costs only ten cents, there are few of us who cannot afford one or several.

And the appeal is universal. To every soul in all this nation who feels common human gratitude for those young lives that were so freely given for us, it is an opportunity—and a beautiful one—to show that gratitude.

And the end! There are none of us but who desire after this "little life" is over to perpetuate ourselves in something beautiful and worth-while, that shall be of lasting service to humanity. What nobler memorial could we raise than a great university, that shall give to young men and women the opportunity for larger life, for greater usefulness, for more exalted patriotism, that would otherwise be denied them?

If we do this—you and I, and all the rest of America's sons and daughters, surely we shall have served our generation and those that shall follow, and shall have helped to keep America safe for centuries to come. And we shall have proved to those grave and generous spirits, who laid down their beautiful young lives—for us—that we do not forget, that in our heart of hearts we hold them, and shall hold them always. In THEIR name we shall build the great university.

For their sake we shall "do our bit."

God bless, and keep forever the heroes who fell in "Flanders Fields."

SEARCH BEING MADE FOR MYSTERY AUTOMOBILE

Auto Becomes Newest Clue in Unraveling of Murder on Leon Renaker at Winchester Last Week.

The identity of an automobile said to have been seen speeding through an alley in the rear of Leon Renaker's home at Winchester, Ky., after midnight last Monday, is believed by Kentucky officials and the Cal Crim Detective Bureau operatives to furnish an important clue in the probable solution of the mystery surrounding the murder of Renaker, wealthy commission merchant. A description of the automobile was furnished by Mrs. Harry R. Prather, a neighbor living in the rear of the Renaker home, who awakened by the flash of the auto's headlights as it swept past her bedroom window. The same witness is said to have heard a man in the speeding, closely-curtained car say to a companion: "I finished him."

According to detectives at work on the case, suspicion has centered upon two young men. One of them is said to own a car of the same kind as seen by Mrs. Prather. Arrests, it is rumored, may be made within 24 hours.

L. & N. GRANTED INJUNCTION BY JUDGE COCHRAN

The temporary restraining order granted the L. & N. Railroad company against the strikers around the Covington terminals several days ago in Federal Court was made a preliminary injunction by Judge A. M. J. Cochran here Monday afternoon. The only alteration made in the order was a permit granting the strikers a right to file the names of their pickets or representatives the day following their service instead of the day before their service, as required in the restraining order. The railroad company was represented by S. D. Rouse and the defendants by C. B. Thompson, both of Covington.

JUDGE COCHRAN REFUSES TO ENJOIN DRY COMMISSIONER

Federal Judge Refuses Injunction Against Prohibition Director Collins in Lexington Brewery Case Heard Today.

Federal Judge A. M. J. Cochran in chambers here Monday afternoon dissolved a temporary restraining order and refused a preliminary injunction against Sam Collins, Federal Prohibition Director for the state of Kentucky sought by the Lexington Brewery Company, of Lexington.

Some time ago prohibition officers seized a truck load of beer said to have come from the Lexington brewery. The beer was tested and said to have contained more than the legal amount of alcohol permitted in non-intoxicating beverages. Prohibition Director Collins cited the brewery company to appear before him on July 28th to show cause why their permit should not be revoked. The company immediately appeared before Judge Cochran and obtained a temporary restraining order preventing the prohibition director from hearing the case.

In refusing the injunction Monday afternoon, Judge Cochran said he would not interfere. The case will be heard by Director Collins at Lexington on Wednesday of this week.

The director was present in court and was represented by Judge B. J. Bethum, chief counsel for the department, and Assistant District Attorney H. C. McGuire. Mr. J. W. Klockner, president of the Lexington Brewery Company, was also in court and was represented by Colonel Henry Allen.

JUDGE COCHRAN TO TRY STRIKERS AT LOUISVILLE TUESDAY.

Federal Judge A. M. J. Cochran left Monday afternoon for Louisville where he is called to try fifteen strikers who are charged with contempt of court in breaking the restraining order of the court.

The many friends of little Miss Thelma Austin, who fell and fractured her knee three weeks ago at Beechwood Park, will be sorry to hear that she is not improving as rapidly as was hoped.

CLARENCE MATHEWS Editor and Manager
Entered at the Postoffice, Maysville, Ky., as Second Class Mail Matter

OUR POLICY:

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the county as a whole.

WILL EASTLAND BE ASSET OR LIABILITY?

Quite a number of our city officials are very active in an effort to annex to the city that territory lying directly south of the Sixth Ward and known as Eastland, Oklahoma and Clifton. While these officials are active in increasing the population of Maysville, quite a number of the residents of this section proposed to be annexed are considerably exercised over the proposed annexation for fear of an increase in their taxes.

The officials who are interested in this annexation proposition are good officials who are anxious to do the best thing for Maysville and think they are doing the proper thing in making the effort to join this territory to the city that the city might be helped to the residents of the section and that those residents who now enjoy without cost, many of the advantages which cost the city taxpayers considerable money, might aid in paying for those advantages. On the other hand the residents who are fighting the proposition are, no doubt, in good faith fearing our $1.50 city tax rate and our promises to improve this section.

As a matter of sentiment, every Maysvillian who is worthy to be called a Maysvillian, should be anxious to see our town grow and prosper and the addition of approximately three thousand citizens at one time by means of this annexation appears to be a step in the right direction.

This, as all other matters affecting so many people as there are in the City of Maysville and our neighboring suburbs, however, should be handled in a business like manner and the cold facts should be considered as well as sentiment and the laudible desire to increase our population.

City officials should investigate and ascertain whether or not the annexation of this territory to Maysville will prove a benefit or a detriment, an asset or a liability to Maysville. Before acting on the matter, officials should know in cold figures whether or not the territory will pay enough money into the city treasury to warrant the city taking in the territory. It should be remembered that this entire section has nothing but mud roads, for the most part. It should be remembered that there is no general system of sewerage. The expense of the school in Oklahoma should be reckoned with and the lighting and policing of the territory should be figured.

More than a year ago, a majority of the residents of this same section voluntarily petitioned the Maysville City Board of Education to be annexed for school purposes only, agreeing to pay into the city school treasury the same rate of tax as was being paid by the citizens of the city of Maysville, it being understood that the Board of Education was to maintain a first class grade school in the territory, consolidating with the Sixth ward school, and give the regular High School training free of any cost, aside from the taxation, to the children of the district. The School Board is granted such conditional annexation powers by the state law and the Board made a very careful investigation. They learned that such a proposition would prove a losing proposition and the board could not, in fairness, place a loss on those who were already paying taxes in the city. The proposition was refused by the board after this investigation.

The Public Ledger suggests such an investigation by our city officials before annexing the territory.

If the investigation shows that the territory will pay enough taxes to warrant its becoming a part of the city, and it may by this time, we are heartily in favor of annexation. If the investigation shows that the annexation of the territory will mean a loss to the city and a further expense upon those who are now paying city taxes, we are opposed to the proposition at this time.

The territory might be annexed and taxes collected for years without giving back to the territory streets and other improvements but if the annexation is made, our citizens should be given a fair and square deal.

Before any action is taken on the matter, we hope our officials will go into the matter carefully.

PAVING BADLY NEEDED

That section of Carmel street beginning at the C. & O. railroad crossing and extending to the city line and that section of the Mt. Carmel pike beginning at the city line and extending to the Maysville cemetery should be paved by the city and county at the earliest possible date finances will permit.

The paving of this space will give to Maysvillians a paved thoroughfare directly to the cemetery and would be a decided improvement at a very small outlay of money. So far as we know, we do not believe that such a great showing and improvement could be made for such a small total outlay in any other manner just at this time in Maysville.

The Public Ledger realizes that the city is now operating on a carefully worked out financial plan which is scheduled to wipe out the city's present indebtedness and we would suggest no deviation from the general plan adopted by council at the suggestion of some of the city's best business men. We believe, however, that this paving proposition is one that the city should consider and should act upon at its first opportunity.

The county should be in a position to handle its end of the proposition at any time.

BY WAY OF CONTRAST

Maysville is to have a new pool room.

There are now eight pool rooms in operation in Maysville and all seem to be doing a good business. These places are mostly patronized by very young men, who must spend large sums of money on the game to pay the big overhead and give the operators a fair profit.

Many of the patrons of these pool rooms are young men who have no visible means of independent support and who seem to care little about their future.

In contrast to this class of young men who are spending their parent's money and wasting their own time, is to be found a number of High School boys who have donned overalls and have been making their vacation period worth something in experience and cash by finding employment at the local cotton mills.

Any business man, who has himself made a success, will tell you without a moment's hesitation which class of young men will succeed in business and make the best citizens.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington. — "Important though those problems may be, settlement of the coal and railroad strike difficulties should not be permitted to detract public attention from other matters vitally affecting the future of the United States and its industries," says the Republican Publicity Association. "Labor controversies are of brief duration, and, undoubtedly, settlements will be reached on a basis of practical justice to all concerned. Serious though they may be, the embarrassments these controversies present are temporary. Of no less immediate importance and of far more concern to the nation in the course of years, is the merchant marine problem."

"It is necessary to mention only a few of the fundamental reasons why the United States should have a merchant marine adequate for the handling of a due proportion of our foreign trade. We learned in the war with Spain and during the recent war with Europe that it is vitally important for a nation to have a merchant fleet upon which to rely for transportation of munitions and troops in case of war. Fortunately, in both of the instances mentioned, the United States was able to secure from other nations most of the shipping necessary to convey its soldiers and military supplies. Since it can not be certain that such an arrangement would always be possible, there can be no disputing the assertion that there should be subject to the call of the American government, a permanent fleet of first-class steamships and men trained in seamanship adequate for any emergency that may arise. The folly of unpreparedness in this respect was readily recognized and admitted by all the American people in 1898 and again in 1917."

"But independence of other nations in carrying troops and military supplies is scarcely more important than independence in carrying our foreign commerce. There is much force to the remark made by an eminent authority on shipping that no retail merchant would leave to his rivals the delivery of his goods. Yet that is practically what the industrial United States is doing when it fails to maintain a merchant marine. A merchant marine properly organized and managed is a discoverer of new markets—a developer of trade. If that fleet be operated under flags of other nations it will seek markets for the products of those countries and seek new buyers for their commodities. If under the American flag, a similar service will be rendered for American producers."

"Moreover, the operation of an ocean carrying service means the payment of wages to American seamen, the purchase of fuel and supplies in American markets, the construction of ships in American yards, the making of repairs in American dry docks, the payment of premiums to American marine insurance companies, and the retention of freight charges in American business circles."

"Differences of opinion upon matters of minor detail regarding methods by which an American merchant marine is to be established and maintained ought not to be permitted to defeat the all-important essential of assuring permanency and regularity to the operation of American merchant ships between the principal ports of the United States and every port in every country where there is reasonable prospect for us to build up a trade of mutual benefit to us and to our customers. The merchant marine problem will be with us after the coal and railroad strikes have been settled."

POEM BY UNCLE JOHN S. MY KANSAS FLOWER.

You should see the stately sunflower, growin' by my kitchen porch. . . . Like a watchman on the campus, holdin' up his regal torch. . . . Every day he pays obeisance to the author of his power, — smile! — at the master-planer, every minute — every hour. . . . Not a frown from constant service ever clouds his patient face. . . . On he grows — to full-perfection, standin' in a humble place. . . . Keer! nothin' fer enviers — thoughtful only of his plan, — settin' forth a rich example fer his hapless neighbor, Man.

Though our station he the humblest, there is a room to grow. . . . Angels from the heights is callin' — Glory beckons — let us go! Ain't no harm to over-shadder small blossoms if we can. . . . Never will be no objections to a bigger, better man! Sunflower sets a splendid pattern as she towers above our head, — firmly rooted — crowned with glories, — what more fittin' could be said? Ain't no limit to the growin' when our time is wisely spent. . . . Every passion with the knowin' lifts us from environment!

Editor's Note: Rev. Matthews is a Presbyterian Minister in the First Church at Seattle, Wash.

The Presbyterian Church has been one of the greatest forces for liberty, education, and evangelism America has ever had. I think it is the author of modern representative government.

TO PRESBYTERIANS I think America owes much of her government to the Presbyterian Church. She has been one of this government's greatest examples and most powerful defenders. In the old days the Presbyterian church's adherence to doctrine and principles, added to the strength, character, and integrity of American citizenship. In these latter days, it seems to me, she has come upon perilous times.

FIRST. — The Presbyterian Church commits a folly and sin if she permits innumerable heretics who deny the deity of Christ and the infallibility of the Bible to stay in her ranks and to occupy her pulpits. I insist she has no right to allow such enemies of God, of her name, and of government to carry her name. I think a Presbyterian minister who denies the deity of Christ or the infallible Word of God and continues to occupy a Presbyterian pulpit is drawing his money under false pretenses. We have all taken oath to teach the deity of Christ and the infallibility of God's Word, and for that we receive position and compensation.

SECOND. — The Presbyterian Church commits a folly when she becomes a mere ticket for faddists and place-hunters who constantly devise schemes and plans and organizations to increase their power, patronage and patrimony. They live and work exclusively that they may subsist upon such efforts.

THIRD. — The Presbyterian Church commits a folly when she permits her enemies to begin to build machinery and centralize her government, thereby detracting from her power.

I don't believe Presbyterians will submit to centralized power nor to dictation by agents and machines. They crushed that kind of power once. I hope they will crush it again. It must be crushed in government and it must be crushed in the church.

The Presbyterian Church should return to the sovereignty and power and supremacy of her Presbyterian government and to the control by her presbyteries.

Hear my plea! Awake, grand old Church! Liberty, righteousness and evangelism.

Poem by UNCLE JOHN

There's many a puzzlin' problem that attacks a feller's mind, when discoursin' to a Public, of a mighty various kind. . . . There's some will differ with ye, and there's others that applaud — an' some that won't believe ye on yer oath, so help ye God! Which brings the solemn query into this here humble song: Can anything be honest — yet remain, dead wrong?

HONESTY

I've allers heard that Honesty was fust among the things, that took a man to Heaven, on the shiniest of wings; that a man that wuzent honest, had mighty high as well, consult the ticket agent for the slowest train to hell. . . . So, a little sober thinkin' will arouse the question strong. — Can any man be honest — yet, remain dead wrong? I try to foller reason in the ideas I evolve — an' I sometimes pray for guidance, when I've got a thing to solve. . . . I've eathered more to judgement, than to tolerance or taste, in these days of much palaver where the syntax goes to waste. . . . Let me cast this humbly pebble in the philosophic pool — That Honesty is risky — in the bosom of a Fool!

Next-Morning Package Car Service

Do you know the meaning of package car service for the handling of "L. C. L. Shipments" (less than carload) and how you are individually served by this plan of the railroads to quicken delivery?

The package car is a development of the freight service which permits merchants or individuals to ship, not only to nearby points but over comparatively long distances, any article (perishable or otherwise) for prompt delivery. The package car gives substantially the same service as is obtained by carload shippers.

These package cars are scheduled so as to be of greatest convenience to the shipper and consignee and they are largely used by the general public for shipment of small household effects and the like, as well as by commercial houses for general merchandise.

This information is published by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad as part of an informative campaign of publicity, and in order that the public in general may become better acquainted with the advantages of the package car.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeannie Price

New York. — Antiquarians may begin digging up New York state as well as Greece and Egypt, in their search for treasures. An exquisite statue, said by local sculptors to be Grecian and 2,000 years old, has been found by workmen digging up a water main on Greystone, the estate of Samuel Untermyer, between Manhattan and Yonkers. The statue is one of the goddess of grain, called Demeter by the Greeks and Ceres by the Romans. No theory as to the presence of the statue on the estate has been advanced.

Veterinary surgeons threaten to become a thing of the past. The automobiles are killing them off. For the first time in the history of the New York county clerk's office, no veterinary has applied to register within the past six months. Twenty-five years ago, as many as fifty were registered here within six months. In the last fifteen years, there has been a gradual drop-out of applicants, and the clerk's office doubts that there will ever be any more.

Madge Kennedy is coming back to the speaking stage this coming season. Contracts have been signed bringing her under John Golden's management for the production of "Spito Corner," a new comedy by Frank Craven, said to be much of the type of "The First Year."

Hula Lu, chieftain of a wild tribe of Kurda in Persia, seems a long ways from Manhattan Island, but his shadow has been resting upon our courts and given an added bit of interest to warps and jaded days. Mrs. Esther Abraham, widow of a minister who formerly lived in Assyria, is suing her cousin Paul Shlimmon, to recover 21,000 kran. Ever since Hula Lu and his men swarmed down upon the Kurd village where Mrs. Abraham owned property, no one has seemed to know just what a kran is worth. Shlimmon took possession of the property before that raid and there is conflict between him and his widowed cousin because of the difference in past and present value. Mrs. Abraham says a kran is worth 17 cents and wants our courts to settle the suit upon that basis. Shlimmon's lawyer says it is worth 7 cents and that anyhow Persian law and not ours must decide the issue.

One million dollars is a fair sum for anyone to make in a lifetime; and it seems still bigger when a woman makes it in fifteen years. That is the record of Margaret L. Schabelorn, who has accomplished it in Greater New York real estate. She accredits most of her success to the fact that she specialized in rent to families with children. "I don't have nearly as much damage done my property by children, she declares, "as do a lot of landlords by party-giving adults."

Justice may not be blind but it is very indiscriminating, according to the theory of Isidor Schwartz, a pickle dealer, in 121st street. He protested a fine of ten dollars dealt him by Magistrate Renaud in the Harlem court for driving a horse with a sore back, on the ground that he owned only half the animal and that his partner and not himself owned the half wherein the sore spot lay. But the magistrate refused to be reconciled by his logic.

It is a good thing for the flappers in one of our suburbs that the Park Board got sufficiently interested in shade trees to appoint a special commission to protect them. One of the Rutherford councilmen got disturbed at the twosling that was going on in the park bandstand. No one would select that spot for his courting if it were not so well shadowed, he insisted, and consequently the way to preserve the decorum of the town's young people was to cut down the trees. Orders went forth and the bright lights of Rutherford would have been shining square onto the bandstand within 24 hours, when the Shade Tree Commission board of the plan. "Never!" they cried in chorus. "Oh, Councilman, spare those trees!" Even at the risk of encouraging romance they refused to allow one leafy branch to be destroyed, and the twosling is back at the old stand.

Ledger Service—Efficiency

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington. — "Quite likely some people will be misled by the plausible but fallacious statement recently made by Henry Ford that 'the purely industrial or commercial enterprise that is worth anything at all can stand on its own feet,'" says the Republican Publicity Association. "His statement is used as an argument against protective tariffs and ship subsidies. The assertion made with such positiveness will be accepted as true by those only who refuse to study history."

"Mr. Ford has established an enterprise which he probably thinks is an illustration of an undertaking that 'stands on its own feet.'" He has no government subsidy; he needs no protective tariff. But the fact is that the building of his great enterprise was made possible by protection afforded by the government under patent laws. His patents may have expired but in the days when he was developing his enterprise it was the patents that protected him from competition. Now he is producing on so extensive a basis that apparently no one can meet his costs of production.

"Mr. Ford's statements are at times at variance with doctrines maintained by American public leaders from the foundation of our government. Hamilton, Washington and Jefferson were advocates of protective tariffs as aids in establishment and maintenance of enterprises in the New World. We have set up standards of living which are maintained in neither Europe nor Asia, and if we are to maintain those standards there must be imposed a tax on importation of commodities produced in countries where standards of living are lower than ours."

"Every Chamber of Commerce in the United States is urging the people of the community at large to patronize their local home industries. Mr. Ford would reply to them 'the purely industrial or commercial enterprise that is worth anything at all can stand on its own feet' and he would reject this appeal for the support of local commercial enterprises. He would buy where he could the cheapest. Every newspaper in the United States, Republican and Democrat alike, is urging its readers to buy commodities produced at home, even if they must pay a little more than they would pay for commodities manufactured outside. Their argument is, and it is sound argument, that by patronizing home establishment the money is kept at home to pay the wages of the home people and afford larger patronage for the home merchant and every industry of the community. This argument applies with no less force to the upbuilding of national industries."

"Prior to 1890 the United States had been buying practically all its tinplate in Europe. Those economists who believed in the Ford doctrine said that an 'industry that is worth anything at all can stand on its own feet' and they closed a protective tariff saying that a protective tariff would add to the cost of every canned commodity the public consumes. Republicans in Congress rejected the Ford doctrine and established a protective tariff on tinplate with the result that an enormous tinplate industry was built up in the

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK KIDNEES

Kidney Diseases Cause Many Aches and Pains of Maysville People.

As one weak link weakens a chain, so may weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking-down. Overwork, strains, colds and other causes injure the kidneys, and generally when their activity is lessened, the whole body suffers.

Aches and pains and languor and urinary ills frequently come, and there is an ever-increasing tendency towards dropsy, gravel or fatal Bright's disease. When the kidneys fail there is no real help for the sufferer except kidney help.

Doan's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys. No need to take the statement of someone living far away as evidence. Here is a case right in this locality. A. Sorries, gun and locksmith, Aberdeen, Ohio, says: "My experience with Doan's Kidney Pills leads me to recommend them strongly. My kidneys acted irregularly and the secretions contained sediment. I had backaches and when I stooped it was difficult to straighten again. Golds always settled on my back and kidneys. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they put a stop to the trouble."

OVER FIFTEEN YEARS LATER, Mr. Sorries said: "I am the same strong believer in Doan's Kidney Pills. I have had no trouble with my kidneys since recommending Doan's."

Sole, at all dealers. Foster-McMillan Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

United States and through competition prices were reduced and the American people bought tinplate cheaper than they had ever bought it under free trade.

"Mr. Ford's assertion sounds plausible at first hearing, but it will not stand the test of reason nor the facts of history."

FIRST SUNDAY IS GREAT DAY AT OLD RUGGLES MEETING

Epworth League Institute Starts today With Corps of Expert Instructors — Big Week Is Expected.

(By J. H. RICHARDSON.)

Ruggles Campgrounds, July 30. — When we campers heard the patter of rain on the roofs this morning we were so elated that we were afraid to move for fear our hearing had deceived. It was a glorious shower. "Showers of Blessing" had at last come. We have been told during the day that the faithful women in their own meetings have been praying for rain. Good for them! In prayer and testimony during the day the Heavenly Father was given thanks and praises for the showers. What we would have done today without rain we shudder to think for never have we seen so much dust at the old campground. Well, everything looks good now. The drooping spirits of the campers are revived and the outlook now is excellent. Some people may have remained away from camp-meeting on account of the rain but we needed rain more than a big crowd. A fine crowd came during the afternoon and services were well attended. The sermons of Dr. Miller both morning and evening and that of President Ezra T. Franklin of Union College, Harboursville, were all excellent. No better preaching could be heard anywhere. The praise and testimony meeting at 9:30 a. m. led by J. B. Hinton was one of great help and comfort — the best we have had of the kind for several years. The few who got out early through the rain for the prayer service led by Rev. Griswold were abundantly favored for the effort. Starting the day right goes a long way towards making the day a good one.

"Institute" is in the air today. Most everyone is on the tip toe of expectancy as to what the thing is like. Several of the directors and instructors arrived during the day and Dean Fort has been in conference with the faculty, pastors and workers getting the program in working order. The first real institute meeting will be Monday morning at 8:30 at which time the work of enrolling in the classes and organizing will be actively begun. Those who are here are Prof. Rolla A. Kilburne, of the University of Chattanooga, Mrs. F. I. Johnson, Dean of Women, of Columbus, Stewart Patterson, of Washington City, and Edward Brown, of Crestline, Ohio, instructor in Sunday school methods.

President Franklin of Union College who is here for a few days will put on what is termed "Union College Night" Monday. This will be followed by a big camp fire at which all institutes will have opportunity to get acquainted.

Miss Frieda Nauman and Mr. Roy Nauman visited the camp during the afternoon. Miss Frieda will remain for the institute and will camp at the Richardson rooms in the Kentucky Inn.

Mr. Thomas W. Tolle, of Dayton, Ohio, is here for a few days visiting his daughter-in-law, Mrs. J. W. Tolle, in the Kentucky Inn.

Mr. E. P. Wiggins and son Everett, of Maysville spent the day in camp with Mrs. Wiggins.

Mr. Joseph M. Jones and son Malcolm spent the day with his daughter, Miss Flossie, who is acting as chaperone to a cottage of girls — Misses Florence Nash, Duke Carrigan and Frances Holiday.

Misses Moore and Adkins of the Dayton, Ky., Epworth League arrived during the afternoon to attend the institute.

George Frank in spite of the rain was one of the first from Maysville to show up this morning. Ruggles would not feel just right if George didn't come one day.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nash of Maysville, formerly residents of this section were welcome visitors in camp today.

MANY HEAR HORSESHOE BAND CONCERT.

The Horseshoe Band concert Sunday evening at the Market street band stand was attended by the usual large crowd. These youngsters are making some wonderful music and this band has a very strong crowd of rooters every time they appear in public.

CARDINAL BAND PRACTICE TO BE HELD TONIGHT.

After a week's rest following the Montgomery County Fair, the Kentucky Cardinal Band will assemble at the band rooms Monday evening at 7:15 o'clock to resume regular practice. All members of the band are expected to be present.
